

Week in Review:

Week 1 – Started the CodeAcademy Lessons for Java and HTML. I did not get the finished all the way but I plan on having them done by class on Monday or shortly after. I think I bit off a little more than I could chew this week with the late start. With the entire week coming I plan on getting a lot more done. My next step is to take some Java and apply it to something next week; I would really like to exercise the knowledge gained. Next week I would also like to review some Lynda videos on Photoshop and Illustrator.